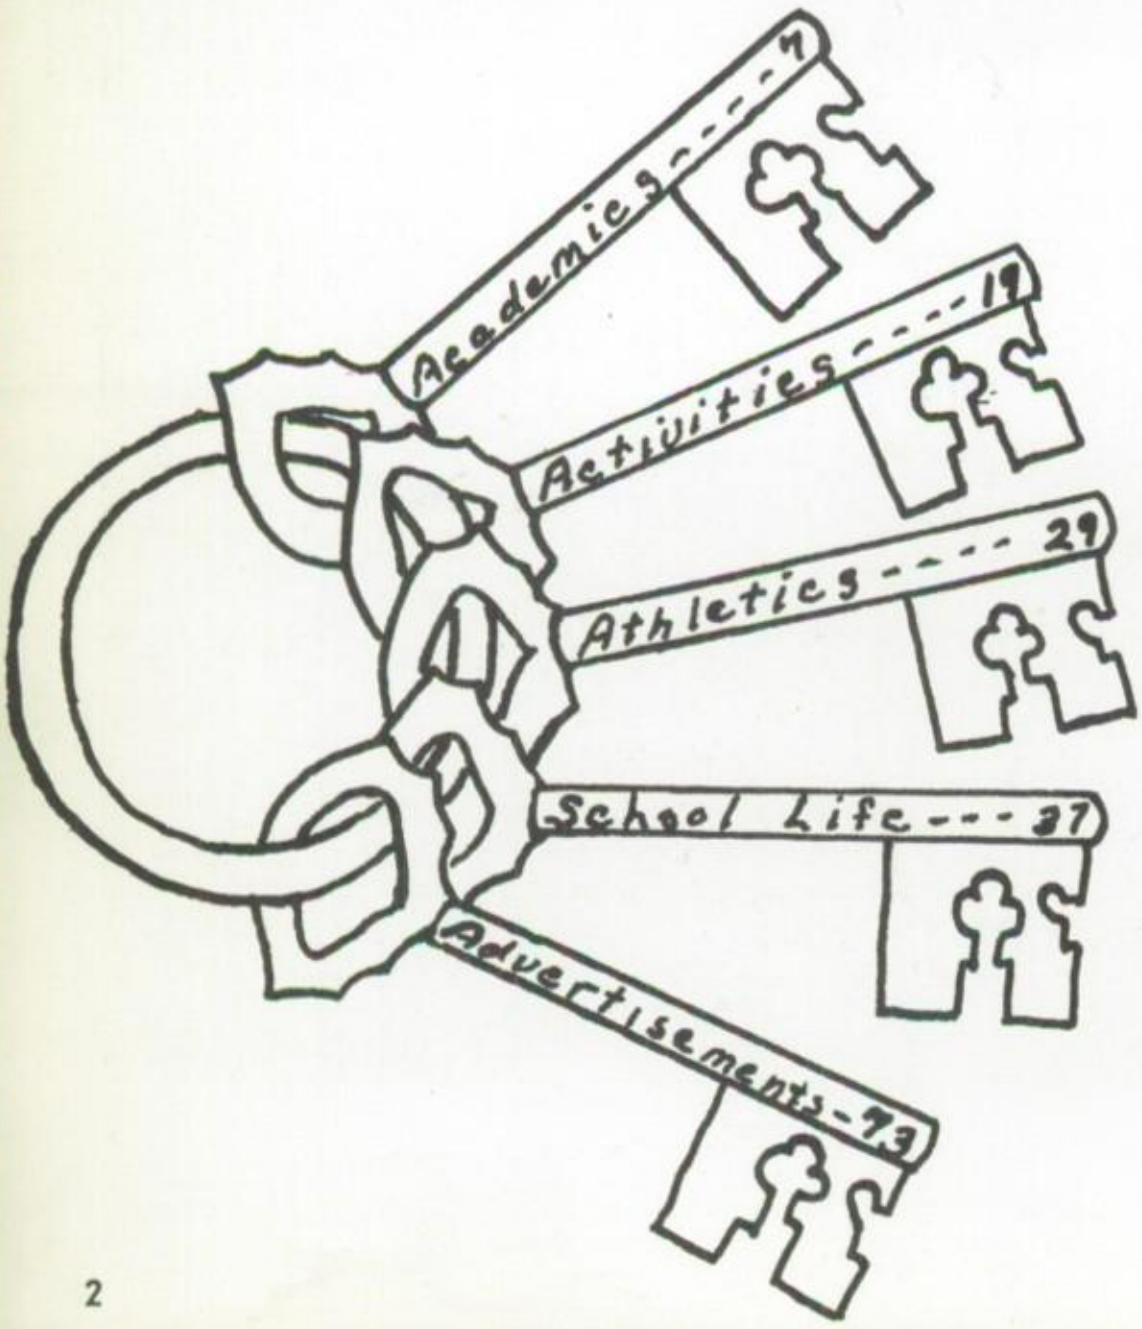
Key To Success

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS enter the doors of Marionville to not only a school, but an institution of learning.



As you leave Marionville, you will take with you an acquired knowledge of 12 years. Up to now, you have been part of a group; now you are an individual. Your own future depends upon your use of the keys to success you have learned in school.

We, the annual staff, have had the yearbook for a year and now we turn it over to you. We hope you will enjoy this 1965 Comet as much as we have enjoyed publishing it.

Begins Here

IN THE HOME Economics building, girls learn to be future homemakers.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR high school in their junior high school building.

ELEMENTARY STUDENTS INCREASE their learning in the new modern classrooms.

Outside Activities

ALTOGETHER NOW; ONE, two three...
Jumping jacks is one of the many familiar terms to these Phys Ed. girls

Once school work is done, there is time for other activities. Here at Marionville we try to provide activities that are a benefit as well as being for the enjoyment of all.

MR. WILEY CAN not seem to get Ruth Leonard's hair pushed down as he measures her for a cap and gown.

BUSY BAND STUDENTS Sherry Wrinkle, Kay Burk, Mart Tiede, and Bob Tapanna pause to catch their breath while practicing for contest.

Activities Add Variety

A CAR WASH proved an excellent way of earning extra money for the senior trip.

BYRON SANGUNETT, KNIAL Soutee, Paul Guffey, and Randy Pendleton prove that girls are not the only ones who primp for class pictures.

The school provides extra curricular activities as relaxation from the tension of studies. Activities such as all day school trips and open house provide learning for both the student and his parents. These activities enlighten the school year for the students of Marionville High School.

ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT
MAURICE W. WILEY
B.S., S.M.S.
M.Ed., Drury

Maurice Wiley has occupied the position of superintendent in the Marionville school district for the past six years. During his administration the school system has experienced its greatest increase in growth and improvement.

He expresses a genuine concern for each student. This concern helps them to prepare for the world outside the doors of Marionville High School.

Fishing is a favorite pastime for Mr. Wiley

Board of Education

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Maurice Wiley, Supt., Harold Maples, Don Wrinkle, Glen Smart, John Crumpley, Willis White, and Ray Rhodes.

BILLY B. REDUS
B.S., Arkansas Tech.
M.Ed., U. of Arkansas
Advanced work on M.S.,
U. of Mo.

Enthusiam, interest, and ability are the keys to Billy B. Redus' success as principal. He shows a sincere interest in each student.

1965 marks the seventh year of Mr. Redus' role as principal. Along with his administrative duties he is also the biology instructor.

Mr. Redus spends his leisure time hunting and fishing in the scenic Ozarks.

MAKING APPOINTMENTS IS only one of the many duties of Mrs. Marian Shipman, secretary to the superintendent.

JACK C. VINEYARD
B.A., M.A., Arizona State U.

Jack C. Vineyard is serving his first year in the Marionville school district. His duties as junior high principal, social studies teacher, and P.E. director help him to get to know and understand each student better. He stresses the importance of an education as well as extra-curricular activities.

Basketball, fishing, and golf provide Mr. Vineyard with relaxation and enjoyment.

Fine Arts Provide

Through music and art, students are able to express their feelings in a variety of ways.

Music students experience a sense of gratifications in knowing that they have completed a successful performance. Under Mrs. Hartman's able direction, students learn to appreciate music's finer qualities.

In Mrs. Moore's art class students develop their talents and abilities in drawing, painting, and molding ceramics.

The language arts play a vital role in the curriculum of every Marionville student. They prepare each person for a life of conversing, reading, and writing in an intelligent and enjoyable manner.

Students are provided with an excellent opportunity to gain a thorough knowledge of their own language through their English classes. Grammar, spelling, vocabulary, and an appreciation for good literature is accented.

Students are taught that the study of history is not only a study of the past but also includes a thorough study of the current events of today.

Here at Marionville through the use of modern teaching techniques, textbooks, movies, and laboratory equipment, an excellent science program has been established to prepare teenagers for a highly developed future. We offer courses in general science, and general and advanced biology.

Mathematics is also considered a very important subject, for a knowledge of math is necessary to everyone today, in whatever field he enters.

Skills Advance Through

Practical arts are useful in preparing students for the future. These courses are to be selected in correspondence with occupational choices. The selectives in this field of education include shop, agriculture, and business classes. Through these studies, M.H.S. students are given the proper foundation for reaching goals of success.

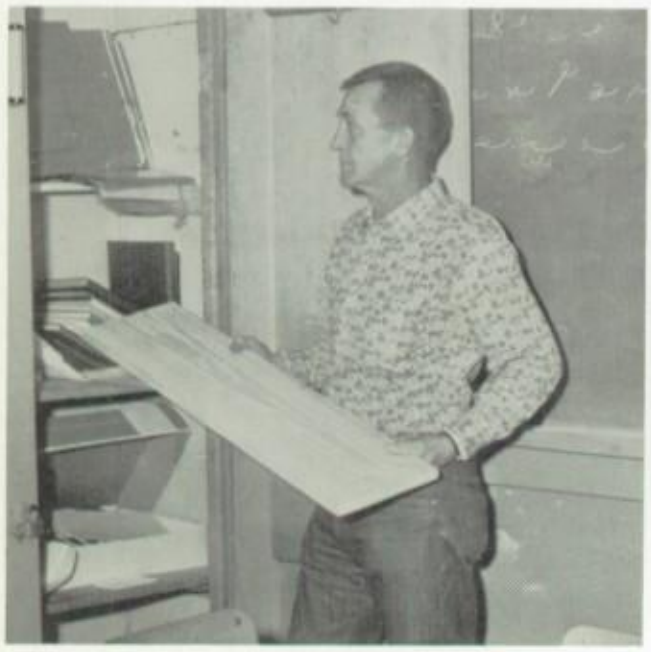
School Personnel Serve MHS

SCHOOL COOKS MRS. Ethel Wood, Mrs. Alice Meyer, Mrs. Edith Jackson, and Mrs. Ruth Forrester, find that preparing and serving nutritious and well-balanced meals is a full time job.

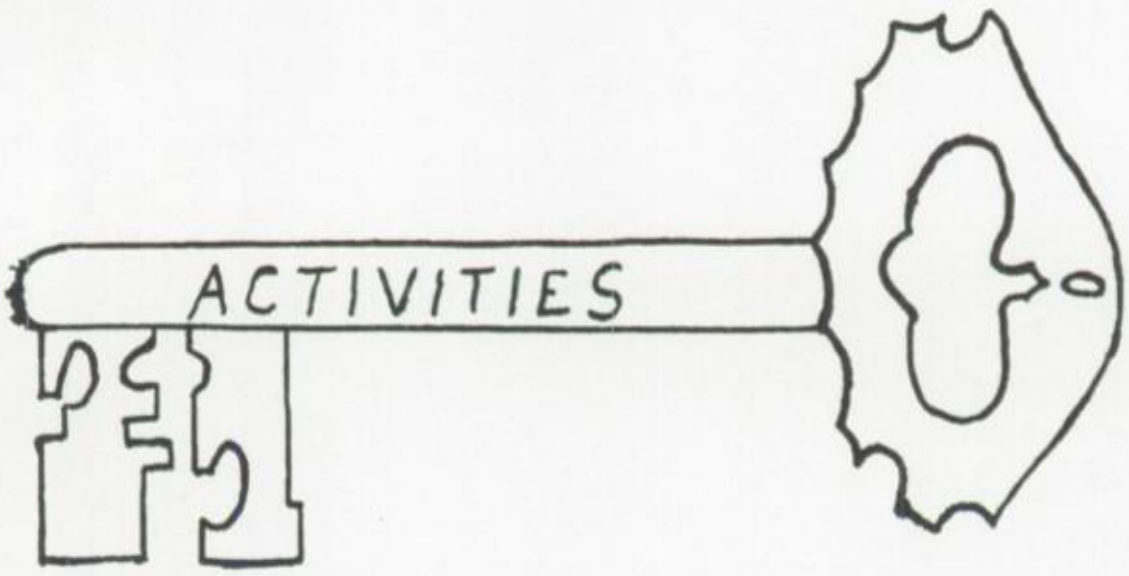
WAITING FOR THE buses to load are bus drivers: Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Forester, Mr. Hargus, Mr. White, Mr. Young, and Mr. Norman.

Personnel perform the tasks necessary for the efficient operation of the school. Cooks prepare meals to feed hungry students, bus drivers safely transport students daily, and janitors clean-up so that everything is spic and span for the next day.



IN ADDITION TO caring for the high school building and gymnasium, Mr. Don Nelson finds time to help teachers with odd jobs.

ONE OF THE many jobs of Mr. Charles Forrester include cleaning the elementary buildings.



ACTIVITIES

IN THIS ELECTION it doesn't matter what party you belong to, as long as you vote for the football homecoming queen of your choice.

Membership in the Marionville High School Student Council is considered by most students to be one of the highest honors attainable.

These chosen students assume such responsibilities as arranging assembly programs, especially the traditional Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, managing the intramural basketball tournament for the benefit of the Polio Drive, and sponsoring the annual football and basketball homecoming activities.

Their work provides a learning experience in the democratic way of life as illustrated in the elections held for various purposes throughout the year as well as in its contribution to the development of leadership which is an important factor leading to good school citizenship.

Term papers, themes, and reading for enjoyment creates an appreciation for our fine library.

Since our library was reorganized in 1956, it has grown to approximately 2,000 volumes.

In addition to the books, there are various magazines, World Books, and Encyclopedias which may be checked out for short periods of time.

A new stack room consisting of back issues of magazines has been added this year to aid students in research.

Another feature, started only two years ago, is our paperback section. We now have almost 100 paperback books.

NO, THE MARIONVILLE Curriculum does not include a class for card sharks, but the nearest thing to it is in the stack room where library assistants Virginia Tiede, Helen Erb, and Pam Kasinger arrange the card catalogues and check all books.

MEMBERS OF THE Comet staff include Judy Clevenhagen, Royetta Newton, Carol Young, Miss Barkley, advisor, Patsy Garner, Steve Wise, Olga Johnson, Velma Meyer, Ann Rhodes, and Terry Ackley.

We the members of the 1964-65 Comet staff have put forth our best to present to you an annual of which you may be proud and treasure in the years to come. It is our hope that in these pages you will find a record of the most important events occuring during this school year. It is also our hope that you will find remembrances of friends, teachers, activities, and classes. With this year's book go our thanks to Miss Barkley, our advisor, for her time and guidance, and our thanks to you for your support.

VELMA MEYER, COMET editor, finds that a great deal of planning goes into the production of the yearbook.

Comets Show Good Sportsmanship

STANLEY EDEN BRINGS down an unsuspecting Greenfield back on a punt return.

The 1964 Comets, despite their 0-6-1 conference record, never lost their team spirit. The boys showed good sportsmanship throughout the season.

The biggest game of the season was the Homecoming game with the first place Greenfield Wildcats. Although the Comets lost 13-0, they played their best game of the season.

The Comets posted their only win of the season in a non-conference game against the Reeds Spring Wolves. The Wolves were defeated 31-13.

Selected for all-conference second was Herman Cummings. Bob Elliott, John Elliott, and Kinneth Kissee received Honorable Mention.

Comets Obtain Greater Skill

Even though this year's record of games won was not outstanding, our team was one of which every student and Comet fan may be proud of.

Coach Bagwell began this year with a new team, but lack of experience did not hinder team spirit or determination.

The experience gained this year, and the leadership of coach Bagwell, has helped the boys prepare for next year's team.

The Marionville track team spent many long, hard hours of practice in order to meet the tough competition this area provides. The team participated in events such as: hurdling, dashes, relays, broad jump, high jump, pole vaulting, shot put, and discus throwing. Each member took advantage of the practice time and capable training of the skilled coaches so that he could meet every event with determination to win.

Cheerleaders Inspire Comets

"IT'S VICTORY TONIGHT," yell varsity cheerleaders Gail Burk, Charle Burnett, Kay Burk, Sharron Mannering, Donna Blades, and Kay Murray.

Adding vim, vigor, and vitality to the Comet enthusiasm is just a part of the tasks of the high school cheerleaders.

Their precision routines and yells are all familiar sights at the games where they assure the team that the Comets are supporting them.

With the guidance of their sponsors, Mrs. Hartman and Mr. Bagwell, the cheerleaders supported the Comets all year round and boosted school spirit with their pep assemblies.

SCHOOL LIFE

1964-65 Homecoming . . .

FOOTBALL QUEEN, Joyce Mooneyham

Homecoming was a night to be remembered by our senior queen, Joyce Mooneyham and her attendants, junior, Ann Rhodes; freshman, Janet Baxter; and sophomore, Gretchen Miller. The crown bearer for the occasion was Phylis Erb with Mike Wiles acting as her escort. The candidates were chosen by the members of the football team; the queen being selected by the student body. The excitement of the evening was heightened by the crowning of the queen which had not been previously announced to the crowd or candidates.

REIGNING OVER THE last half of the Greenfield game are: Queen, Joyce Mooneyham; attendants, Ann Rhodes, Janet Baxter, and Gretchen Miller; crown bearer, Phylis Erb; and her escort, Mike Wiles.

Night of Enchantment

OUR 1964-65 ROYALTY included: Queen, Ruth Leonard; attendants, Helen Erb, Olga Johnson, and Sherry Wrinkle; trainbearers, Gary Tappana and Renee Kasinger.

Chosen queen for our 1964-65 basketball homecoming was senior Ruth Leonard. Her attendants for the occasion included Olga Johnson, junior; Helen Erb, sophomore; and Sherry Wrinkle, freshman. Trainbearers were Renee Kasinger and Gary Tappana. The candidates were selected by the basketball team with Miss Leonard being selected queen by popular vote of the student body.

DEBORAH VINEYARD FINDS not only Miss Stewart's direction but also her experience with make-up helpful in portraying her part as "Emma Knight" in the junior play.

EVERYTHING SEEMS TO go wrong at dress rehersal for Deborah Vineyard and Charle Burnett but perhaps this will bring good luck at the performance.

An important event for the Juniors was the presentation of their play. The entire class combined their efforts and talents to produce "Keep Moving".

A highlight for the seniors was the arrival of their class rings.

"MY RING'S BETTER than your ring," sing senior class members Curtis Wells, Kenny Smith, Danny French, and Nora Collier.

DON RAGAN AND Herb Plowman believe that even if they don't possess artistic talent they can be neat.

Chances to Excel

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS, Randy Pendleton, Darleen Kasinger, Ann Jones, Curtis Wells, Earl Burk, Mike Norris, and Sandra Sellars agree that trimming the Christmas tree is the most enjoyable of their many duties.

"THESE NIGHT SESSIONS are a lot of work," says Royetta Newton to Miss Barkley, "but I find it worthwhile."

Marionville High School is not only a place for gaining knowledge but it also helps its students to develop through outside activities. Such activities are provided by the Student Council, cheerleaders, annual staff, and various other organizations.

CHEERLEADERS CAROL YOUNG, Kay Murray, Charle Burnett, Donna Blades, Kay Burk, and Gail Burk find that along with cheering the team on to victory they must also decorate goal posts.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS Sara Cook, Curtis Wells, and Danny French open the polls while Patsy Garner prepares to vote.

Students Capture Coveted Honors

CURTIS WELLS, EARL Burk, Rebecca Sellars, and Steve Soutee review current happenings in preparation for the Tournament of Knowledge.

THE FIRST ACTIVITY of newly installed Student Council members is the installation ceremony.

The candidates for Sophomore Citizen must possess qualities including citizenship, scholastic ability, leadership, and service, and must rate in the upper fourth of their class. The faculty is responsible for nominating the candidates and the winning student is selected by the student body.

This event is sponsored each year by the Twentieth-Century Club.

PRETTY BAND QUEEN, Virginia Tiede represented Marionville in the Aurora Christmas Parade.

AS "SOPHOMORE CITIZEN" Gail Burk will be one of the students from Missouri to make the pilgrimage to Jefferson City.

Third Key — Friendship . . .

The seniors of 65, after the termination of 12 years of fun and hard work, eagerly anticipate the new world that is waiting outside the doors of Marionville High School. Hand and hand with this anticipation goes a little sadness. Sadness because it is the end of their school years filled with football and basketball games, class plays, club activities, and close friendships.

Exciting moments to be remembered are those when the seniors received their rings, senior pictures, attended the banquet, and enjoyed the fun of the senior trip.

But even as they feel the sadness of saying good-bye they know they have received the Key to Success. The key being that of a reliable education.

Juniors Harves

An important phase in the life of every student is the Junior year of high school. It is a year enriched with increased knowledge and a deeper understanding of life. With this knowledge and understanding, the Juniors have also gained experience, confidence, and a sense of determination with which to meet the coming year and the years to come successfully.

Sophomores Sight Problems

The Sophomore class of 1964-65 has shown outstanding ability in many fields. They learned that the way to achieve success is through cooperation and the acceptance of responsibility.

This past year has been one of importance. They elected a Sophomore Citizen and a vice-president for the Student Council.

Sophomores look back on this year with happiness and forward to the coming years with anticipation.

"THE CONCESSION STAND is a lot of work," sighs Velma Meyer to Larry Wilson.

"UM-UM GOOD," says Reta Alley to Rebecca Sellars as she samples a cake for the concession stand.

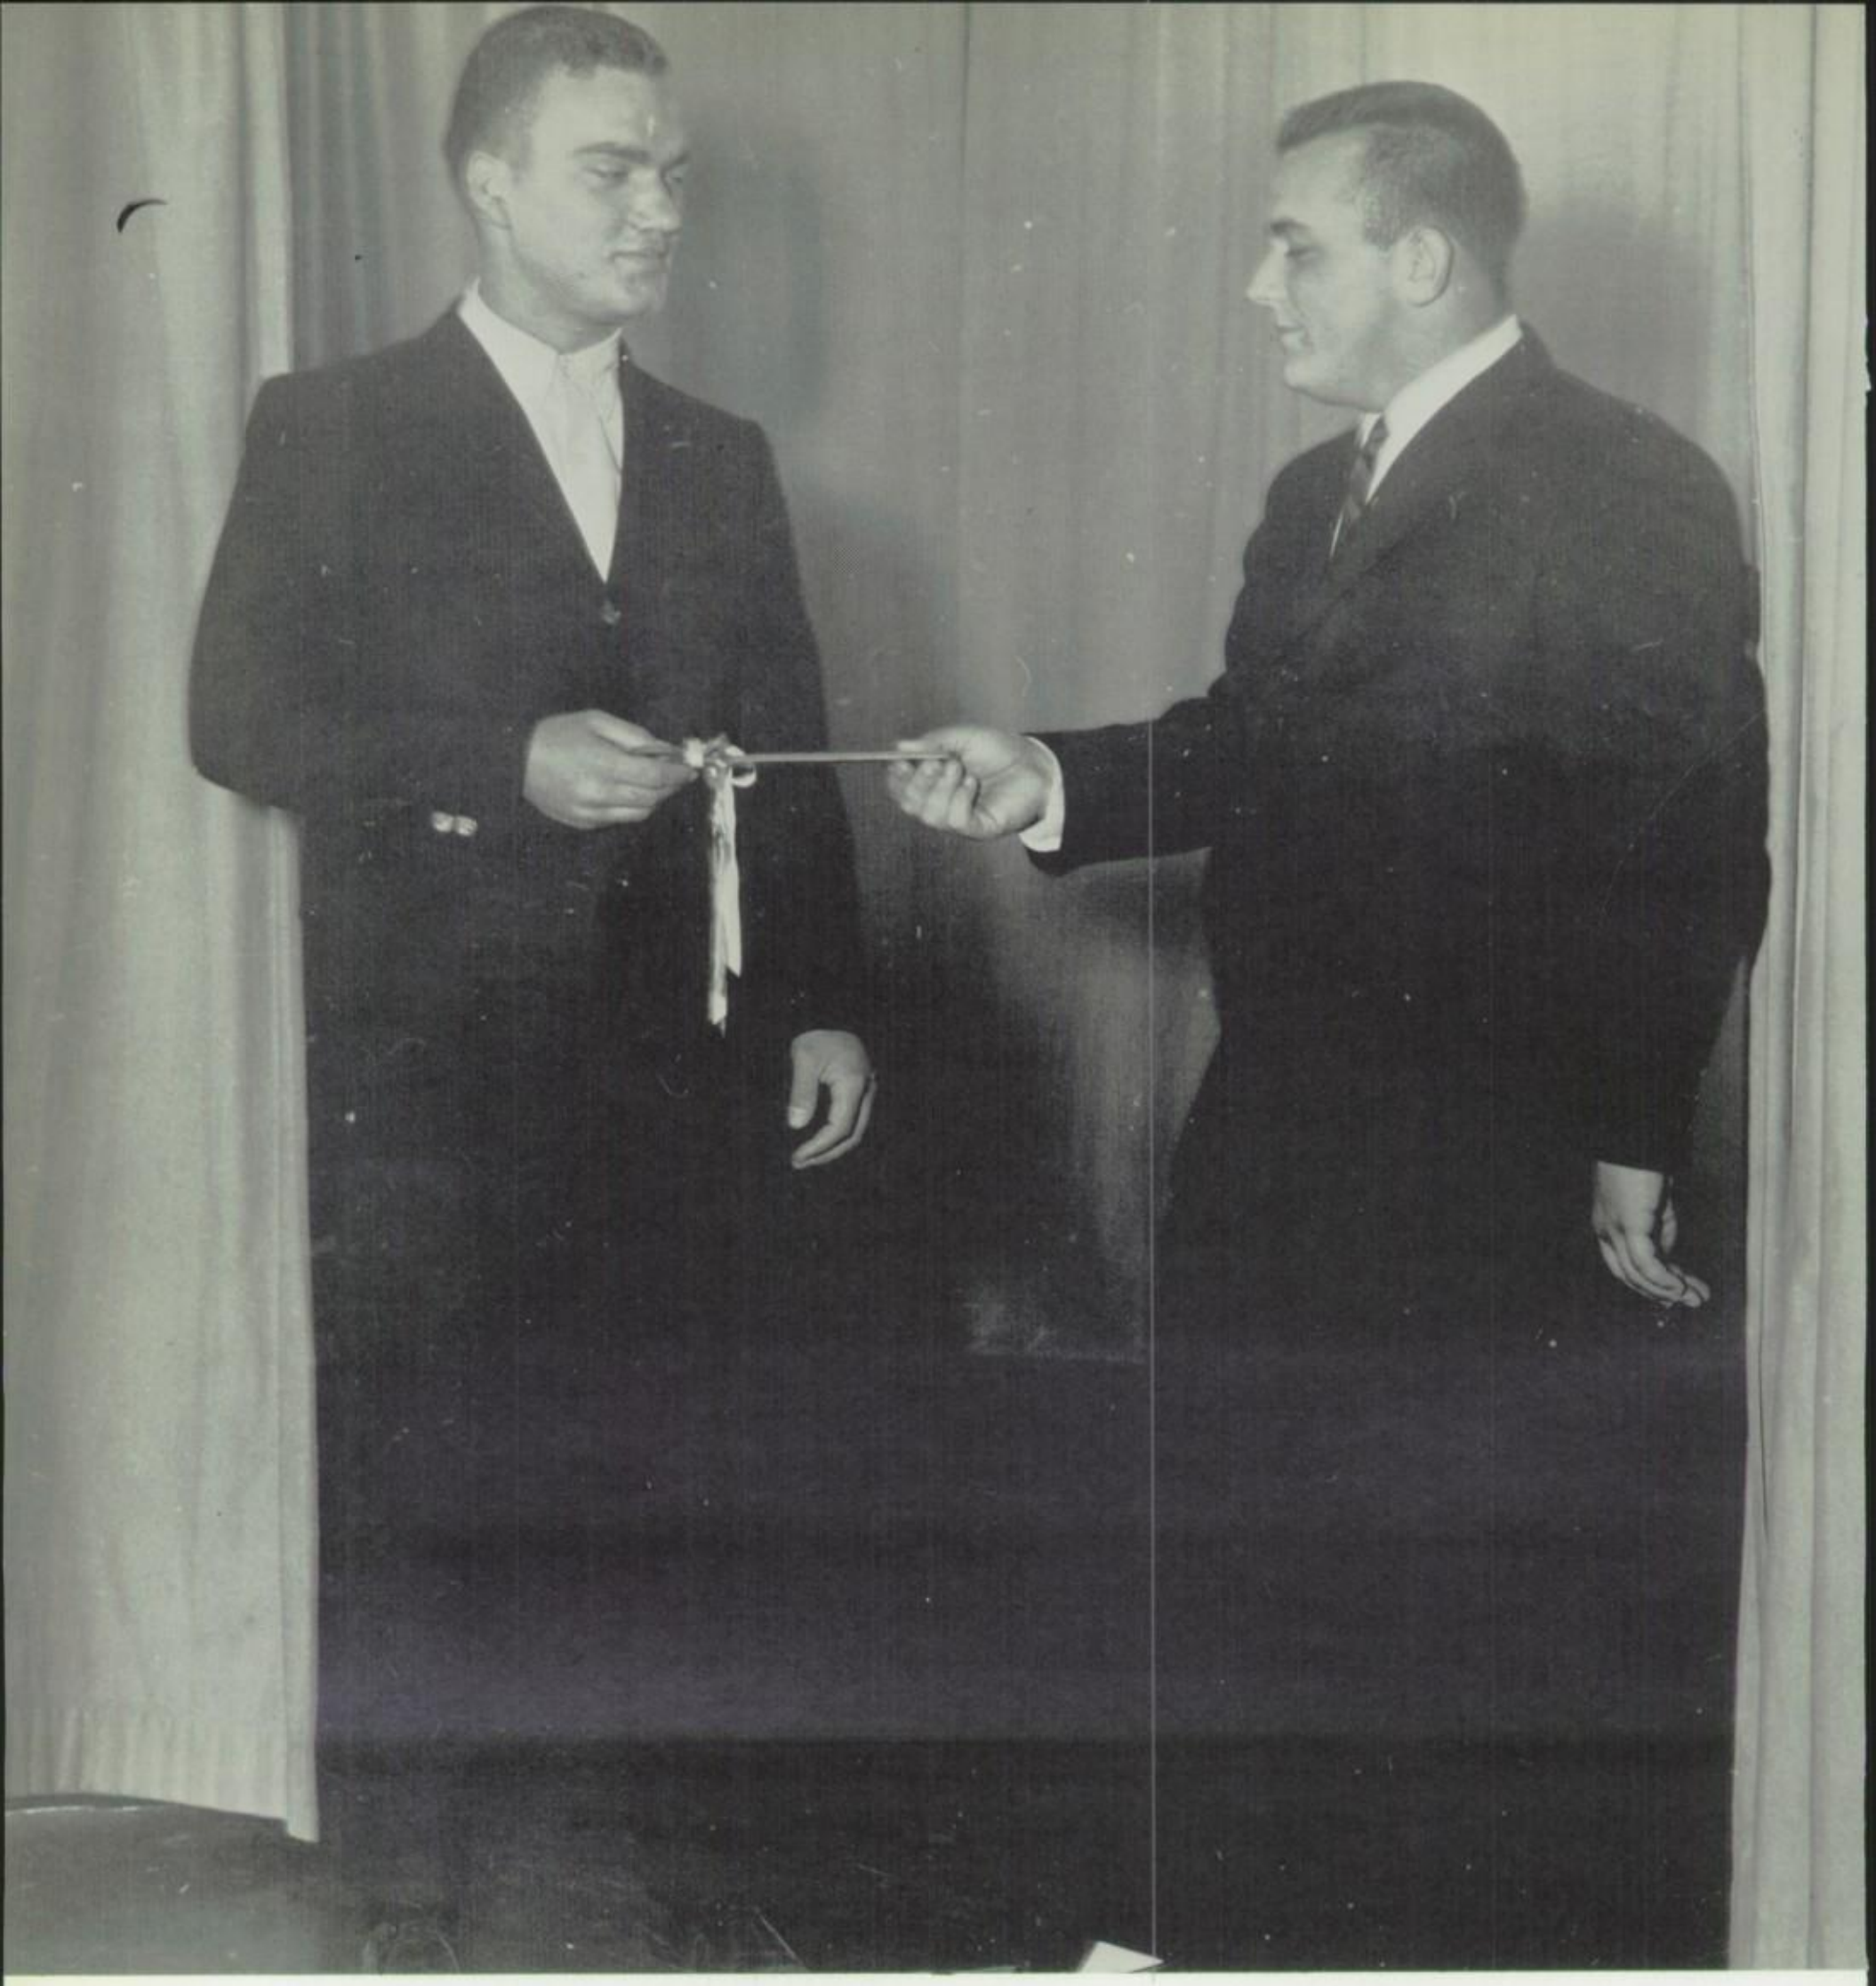
CAROL STANLEY DEMONSTRATES the new model sewing machine to Judy Michel and Cathy Fulks.



FOR TWELVE YEARS we, the seniors, have been gathering and storing knowledge; building toward our goal in life. Now, as this comes to a close, we realize how much our success depends upon this knowledge we have gained in high school.

Always will we cherish our school days. The friends we have made and the fun we have had will long be remembered.

Now comes the time for us to leave and in turn, pass the key to success to the next class. There is one thing to be remembered with this; the key may be given but the success must be attained through individual effort.

Dear Carol Lynne,
You are a sweet and very very cute girl. So always remember me in the sixth grade.

Love always,
Cathy Lawrence

Dear Carol,
You are a Cute &
Sweet Girl. Remember
had together. Remember the good times we have
Love ya!
Susan

Dear Carol,
You are a dear, sweet cute girl. I have had lots of fun with you.
Remember the fun we had on No. 5. Good luck in the future,
Love Ya!
Barbara

Dear Carol,
You are real cute sweet girl.
Remember all the fun we have had. Good luck in the future.
Love ya!
Pat
